

Blairmore Gains In Population

Final population figures based on the 1946 prairie census now are officially released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for all cities, towns and villages and reveal a steady increase in population for numerous southern Alberta communities.

Lethbridge's population was officially placed at 16,522 in 1946, compared with 14,612 in 1941, and an interesting disclosure as the fact that most of the increase could be attributed to an increase in the number of girls and women in the city.

Between 1941 and 1946 the official number of females resident of Lethbridge increased by 1,092—from 7,135 in 1941 to 8,227 in 1946. The number of males increased officially by 818—from 7,477 in 1941 to 8,295 in 1946.

The population of southern Alberta's other city, Medicine Hat, increased from 10,571 in 1941 to 12,859 in 1946.

Official population figures for 1946 for Southern Alberta towns follow, with 1941 figures in brackets:

Don't Sell U.K. Short Says Noted Economist

(By Roger W. Babson)

I have always been in close touch with Great Britain. For many years I have had an office in London and have crossed the ocean many times. From the earliest part of the Second Great War I constantly stated that Britain would suffer tremendous losses and would be temporarily forced to become a second-class power. All of these forecasts have proven true.

The Labor Gov't's Goal

Today I am just as optimistic on Great Britain as I was pessimistic ten years ago. When reading the history of Britain, I am always impressed to see how many times, during the last thousand years, she has been down and out.

The British people have a character and steadfastness which, in the end, is worth far more than money or even military power.

They are the world's greatest authorities on colonial development, shipping, insurance and banking. I sometimes think that the poverty propaganda which Britain is now issuing is to help her make a good trade with the United States. However, we should not blame her for this as we cannot afford to have Britain collapse.

I was a friend of Winston Churchill during the war and was sorry to see him defeated at the last election. His rabid attack on present Labor government, however, is unjustified.

The Labor government, like other pioneers, makes mistakes, but they have a worthy goal—namely to develop some fair policy as a bridge between communism and capitalism. In my humble judgement we should help them in their efforts, although they will succeed without a blessing from the U.S. National Association of Manufacturers.

Watch Africa

For ten years I have been urging readers to watch Russia. This was especially true directly following the Second Great War when Russia was temporarily popular in this country. Now I say, "Watch Africa."

Inside information indicates that the British industrialists are switching their energies and money from India and the Far East to Africa, which is both richer and nearer home. I forecast that Britain and France will form an economic alliance for the development of Africa which—with the British Dominions—will again make the British Empire the world's greatest power. Therefore don't sell Britain short!

Britain will get out of India all that she has put into India with a good profit to boot. This also applies to certain other possessions which she gradually is relinquishing. India is cursed with an unbelievably large population and an impossible religion.

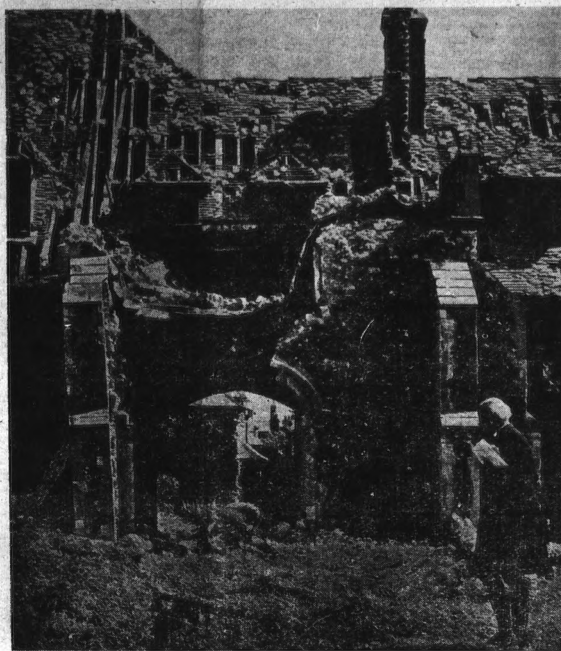

Africa is richer in natural resources, has comparatively few people, and these, although called "heathen," are adaptable to the Christian religion.

In addition to the rich undeveloped mines, water powers, forests, oil prospects, and other natural resources of Africa, it is nearby and already within Great Britain's grip. You hear nothing about giving up Africa.

The Marshall Plan

I find in Washington that the Marshall plan will be adopted after careful tailoring. Britain is very glad to have it apply to France, Italy and Greece generously, but it is not so keen about Korea, China and the Far East.

British diplomats tell me that it is foolish for the United States to try to "save the world." British statesmen of all parties are unanimous that the Mediterranean countries should be protected, so that the democracies will definitely control the Mediterranean. Britain, however, is prepared to let

Canterbury Cathedral Fund Appeal Jan. 25

Anglican churches throughout the Calgary diocese, in conjunction with those in all parts of Canada, will hold a special one-day appeal for funds January 25 to aid in the rebuilding of structures in the precincts of Canterbury Cathedral which were severely damaged by enemy bombing in the war.

A minimum objective of $100,000 has been set by the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, and $1,500 is the share of the Calgary diocese.

Special collections will be taken at the morning and evening services on Septuagesima Sunday, which will be observed as Canterbury Sunday in Anglican churches. The gift will be in the form of voluntary contributions from the parishioners.

DECISION to hold the appeal for funds was made by the general synod meeting in Winnipeg in 1946. Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, will present the Canadian church gift to the Archbishop of Canterbury at the Lambeth Conference, a meeting of all the bishops of the Anglican communion which will be held in England this summer.

Fifteen high explosive bombs fell on the cathedral precincts

the residence of the late Lady Davidson, widow of a former Archbishop of Canterbury, and an entire row of ancient houses were completely destroyed. In addition, the library, two other canonical houses, the King's School dining hall and the manse bakery were damaged to the extent of being unsafe. Repairs will have to be made to the Kent war memorial in the west end of the grounds, to the King's School classrooms and to the boiler house, as well as to the grounds.

THE CITY OF Canterbury in Kent was one of the most severely hit in the Second Great War by German aerial attacks. The extent of the bombings is shown in figures released just after the end of the war which revealed that 2,622 air raid warnings were sounded, and 445 high explosive bombs and 10,050 fire bombs fell on the city.

Throughout the long days of the war, cathedral services continued, although the bells were hushed. Even during the worst days of the blitz in June, 1942, choir boys carried on with their practice.

Canterbury Cathedral was the first church built in England by St. Augustine, being founded in 604, and it soon became the principal seat of the Church of England.

Treasurer of the fund is Ven. Archdeacon Robert Axon and persons who will not have an opportunity to make their contributions to the fund Jan. 25 may send donations to him at the Synod office, Union Building, Calgary.

Teacher Colleges Have Stiff Competition

Twenty-five years ago teaching was the one easy and obvious way by which a young man or woman could leave the farm or village and be on his own in a short space of time. Salaries of teachers were not noticeably below those paid in comparable lines of work and large numbers of young people used teaching as a stepping stone to other occupations.

Things are vastly different today. Hundreds of occupations are open to young people. Trade and commerce are employing stenographers by thousands. Airplanes require pilots, mechanics and stewards. Hospitals, steadily expanding in size and number, require nurses. Beauty culture has given employment to hundreds more. The expanding automobile trade, with all its sub-services, take up more. University enrollment multiplies. The civil service and defence forces grow with every new public requirement. The Teacher-Training College, requiring several years of attendance, has become only one of many vocational avenues for our high school graduates.

During the quarter-century before 1939, this province used on an average 862 new teachers every year. Present indications are that we shall be lucky to find half that number in the years ahead. It appears that we shall have to study how first to induce more of our high school graduates to enter the Teacher Colleges, and how second, to persuade them to stay on the job. Changed conditions require a rethinking of this basic social problem—Alberta Educational Council.

The Editor,

Dear Sir,

Reports which I have received from Postmasters in all parts of the country show that co-operation by the public in mailing early at Christmas was more marked than ever this year and I would like on behalf of the Canadian Postal Service, to express to you and the public generally our very warm appreciation of the assistance so generously accorded to us.

Once again the volume of Christmas Mail, parcels and letters, reached new high levels in most offices. Because the great majority of patrons, however, co-operated with the Post Office in mailing before or on 19th December, which had been publicized as the closing date, peak dates in most offices occurred on 18th, 19th and 20th December. This enabled our greatly augmented staffs to come to grips with this tremendous volume of Christmas mail in ample time to assure delivery before Christmas Day. In fact, all our reports indicate that on the day before Christmas all deliveries were back to almost normal.

I want particularly at this time to make grateful acknowledgment of the assistance extended to us by the newspapers in attaining this very generous display to our announcements and to special articles on various phases of Post Office work, and I am sure that this publicity played no small part in making the public conscious of the need to mail early.

Please accept my warmest thanks for the help given to us and to the public in assisting expeditious handling of the Christmas mails.

Yours sincerely,

W. J. TURNBULL,
Deputy Postmaster General.

The annual meeting of the Blairmore United Church was held on Tuesday evening. Gratifying reports from all departments were read on the financial and spiritual growth of the church under the ministry of Rev. J. J. McKelvey.

LABOR TROUBLE AHEAD?

Have recent price increases set the economic stage for a repeat performance by labor of the grim strike play of 1946, asks The Financial Post.

As union after union raises its 1948 wage demand sights as prices soar, many observers think it looks like a wage war. On every side, says The Post, union leaders are talking tougher than have since the disastrous wave of strikes in 1946. What's more, the rank and file appear to be in the mood to listen.

MARTYRS TO ILLNESS

Denouncing fear anxiety, and worry over health as harmful, the department of national health and welfare, has issued a call to martyrs to illness to battle their ailments. Instead of "grimacing and bearing it," the person who actually needs to enjoy being an invalid should strive for better health, says a health officer, pointing out that in many cases such fear and worry is a form of self-indulgence.

Immigration in 1948

IMMIGRATION PROMISES TO BE A MATTER of continuing interest to Canadians this year. Although restrictions were amended and the way was opened for more people from other lands to enter Canada, immigration proved to be on a smaller scale in 1947 than in the preceding year. Figures showed that in the six months ending September 30th, 1947, 32,028 immigrants came to Canada. This was 14,226 less than the number admitted in the corresponding period in 1946. The decrease in numbers was explained largely by the fact that in 1946 troops brought many hundreds of wives and dependents of service men to this country. After that operation was completed the ships were withdrawn, to be converted for use in regular passenger service, thereby creating a temporary but acute shortage of passenger ships.

The lack of passenger ships is believed to be the main reason why more people have not immigrated to this country under the amended regulations which allow unrestricted entry of persons from Commonwealth countries and the United States, and almost the same conditions for the admission of people from European countries who have relatives here willing to provide for them. Trades people and skilled workers with sufficient funds to establish themselves here are likewise permitted to come into the country and in addition, last year provision was made for the entry of 20,000 persons from displaced persons camps in Europe. Wives and unmarried children of Canadian citizens of Chinese origin were also extended permission to come to Canada. All classes of prospective immigrants are, of course, required to possess satisfactory qualifications in regard to health, character and financial status.

It is expected that more passenger ships will be operating this year, thus opening the way for greater numbers of people to avail themselves of the opportunities offered to immigrate. It has recently been announced that the British government has given assurance to Australia that shipping space will be available to transport 70,000 people to that country in 1948, this being the minimum objective of the Australian government for immigration this year. The number of immigrants expected to enter Canada in that period has not been announced but it is expected that there will be considerably more than in 1947. So far, the main fault of the post-war immigration policy appears to have been that too few people were coming into the country at a time when there has been a serious shortage of labor for our farms and industries. Indications are that there will be more shipping space in the coming months, and the progress of Canada's present immigration policy will be watched with interest here and abroad.

79,000,000 Pounds Butter Needed By April

1947 Production Over 1946 But Consumption Has Increased

LONDON, Ont. — J. F. Singleton, associate director of the Federal Government's Dairy Marketing Products Service, said here Canada would have to make or import more than 79,000,000 pounds of butter before April to satisfy the domestic market and provide a "working stock" of 10,000,000 pounds.

Addressing the opening session of the Western Ontario Dairyman's Association, he said increased domestic consumption last year had left better and cheese supplies short, but exportable quantities of evaporated and condensed milk are available.

Mr. Singleton reported better production during the first 11 months of 1947 was 18,700,000 pounds higher than in the corresponding period of 1946. However, demand for butter increased by about 30,000,000 pounds.

Cheese production decreased in 1947, a drop amounting to 27,000,000 pounds, or 19.1 per cent, up to December 1. The domestic supply situation is reported.

In his presidential address, Roy Fraser, of Dutton, Ont., said that while excessive prices in dairy products, further increases in dairy prices were likely as a result of the feed grain shortage with consequent cut in herds.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

"Can you do double entry?" asked the employer of the applicant for an accountant's job.

"I can do triple entry!" was the reply.

"Triple entry?"

"Yes—one entry for the working partner showing the true profits, another for the sleeping partner showing small profits, and a third for the income-tax collector showing a loss."

"I say, old fellow, have you change for a pound note?"

"Yes, certainly."

"Well, just lend me 10 shillings of it, will you?"

"Poor old Bill, he's workin' hisself to death."

"How's that?"

"Well, he's that short-sighted 'e can't see when the boss ain't lookin'."

Robinson: "The stenographer does all the spade-work in business."

Jones: "Her employer, meanwhile, does a spot of digging on the near-by golf course."

"Are you the oldest in your family?"

"No, both father and mother are older than I am."

"My mother didn't ever open a can to serve soup," said the foolish young married man.

"Well," replied his bride of seven months, "you get me some salt pork, split peas, onions, celery, carrots, turnips and a kettle large enough, and I'll make soup, too."

"I haven't seen you at church lately, William," said the vicar.

"What's the matter?"

"My daughter's learning to play the harp," replied William.

"But what's that got to do with it?"

"Well, I'm not so keen on going to Heaven as I was!"

We have been in leadership in the development of the foreign currency and the development of Canada's external trade. The result is that The Royal Bank of Canada is very much integrated with the commercial life of many nations and is a real and attractive symbol of Canada."

"Last year I made reference to the unique position we occupy regarding our branches abroad and I believe it bears repeating, because it is our belief that there is no adequate substitute for direct representation by our own trained organization, experienced in Canadian ways and fully informed by close liaison of the needs and offerings of Canadian businessmen."

"Apart from world-wide relations with banking houses we have twenty-one branches outside of Canada. There is a constant flow of information regarding market and general conditions from these branches to a central department at our Head Office in Montreal, and similar information reaches us from correspondents in many other parts of the world. This, you will appreciate, enables us to furnish our clients with the most matched and valuable service to exporting and importing clients."

RESEARCH MAY IMPROVE QUALITY OF FISH

VANCOUVER.—Higher quality fish for Canadians in inland spots may result from research mapped out for 1948 by the Pacific Fisheries experimental station at Vancouver, Dr. Neal M. Marler, station director, announced in Ottawa.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Fisheries Research Board, Dr. Carter said the station plans to direct much effort toward bringing about quality control of all fish products. Experiments also are under way to develop low-cost methods of insulating and refrigerating fishing vessels themselves.

Important among the station's technical developments in 1947 was the creation of a machine for separating edible cooked flesh from the trimmings and other waste materials resulting from processing at canneries and filleting plants. Such flesh, of high quality, can be used in the preparation of new types of canned, smoked, pickled and spiced products also developed there.

Intensive studies to determine the wide fluctuations in the catch of some species of B.C. salmon will be carried out this year by the fisheries research board through its biological station at Nanaimo.

Vast Alberta Road Program Planned

Provincial road authorities already are making preparations for a vast improvement program this year. This is revealed by departmental officials who said recently that six gravel crushing outfits now are in operation in different parts of the province.

These crews are busy crushing and stock piling gravel so that there will be a head start on the hard surfacing program this spring. They are clearing the way for work to be advanced speedily and the elimination of delays caused during the past year, owing to required material not being on hand. Officials of the Alberta Motor Association have been informed that the public works department is planning another $13,000,000 road surfacing and improvement program, which will include a considerable mileage of grading and graveling.

There is extensive work planned on highways in southern Alberta and also in the central and northern districts. This work is expected to result in a hard surfaced highway being completed from the U.S. border all the way north to Edmonton and on to Clyde on the Peace River highway. Considerable work also is planned on the Jasper highway east and west of Edmonton.

Department of Mines and Resources

H. L. Keenleyside, deputy minister of mines and resources stated today that there was no truth in the report published in an English paper to the effect that the Canadian authorities would not give permission for Rebecca, the 15 years old Eskimo girl who recently accompanied Mrs. John Turner to England, to stay in Britain permanently.

The policy of the Canadian Government, the deputy minister stated, "is to encourage the assimilation of Indians and Eskimos into the general population. It would be wholly contrary to the point of view of the government and to the policy being carried out by the officers of the Indian Affairs Branch to refuse the Eskimo girl in question the chance to take advantage of the opportunities which would presumably be made available to her in the United Kingdom. So long as she is in good hands, and wants to stay in Britain, the Department will certainly not insist on her returning to the North."

At the Wednesday evening Awards went to Mrs. Angus Grant, Mrs. G. Cruickshank and Mrs. A. Hollingshead.

Pneumonia can occur in any climate and in all seasons. It is common in the winter and spring, and in regions where cold, windy, changeable and inclement weather prevails. Canadians are warned that any pain in the chest, is a danger signal. See a doctor.

SAVING SERUM

Fortunately a serum which will prevent, or at least, lessen, an attack of measles, may be obtained through medical channels. Although it is a fairly common complaint, measles is most serious when young children are afflicted, particularly if they are under-nourished.

Measles can affect eyes, ears and sometimes the lungs. In school-age children measles may be the forerunner of Tuberculosis, offering a fertile field for intrusion of the TB germ. Measles cases call for real professional skill to prevent lasting damage.

Working-people in the habit of using compressed air for "cooling" or for dusting clothing they were wearing, are warned by the department of national health and welfare that this is a dangerous practice. It has been known to cause loss of eyesight and hearing. "Death can occur if the air stream enters the body" warns the health department.

TELL YOUR FAMILY you intend to make Maxwell House your regular coffee. They'll all love it because it's Blended by Experts for Extra-smooth, extra-full-bodied flavor.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

When playing many games, you get better results by "following through". And if you want to be successful, you will apply that principle to your job, too.

This means doing a thorough job—seeing that you have done all you can do to make it good before it leaves your hands.

Doing so may involve only some very slight extra effort. Double-checking, some measurements, for instance, may be a small matter. And your work won't be apparent. But it may save time and money—the price of errors. And sooner or later people will learn that they can depend on you.

On the other hand, you may have to work hours overtime in order to follow through on some jobs. Or you may need to keep an eye on other operations which are not part of your job but have a bearing on it.

However, if you're really ambitious, you'll willingly go to considerable lengths in order to make every job a really O.K. job!

The modern life insurance agent not only brings the need for financial security to people's attention... he follows through by helping them plan a practical program that is adapted to the individual's requirements.

TABS ON TEETH

Nature's plans for growth and development are often foiled by disease and accidents. But, sometimes, early professional attention can come to Nature's aid and get things to rights again, before too much harm is done.

Dental authorities think particularly of tooth decay, which is a disease. Once disease begins in a tooth, it will usually destroy it; unless the dentist is called in to assist nature in carrying out her original plans for that tooth. It is important, Canadians are reminded, to keep in touch with the dentist so that he can keep tabs on their teeth.

Three Men Testify

All "Co-op" Officials
All favour keeping Grain Exchanges open

Read what two of them said before United States Congressional Committee on December 4th and what Mr. Davis said in St. Louis recently.

Testimony of Mr. Herman Skyberg:

Mr. Herman Skyberg, President of the Farmers' Co-operative Marketing Association of East Grand Forks, Minnesota, said,

"With the present marketing system (a Grain Exchange and 'Futures' markets) we have protection and do not have to carry the risk. As our manager buys grain from farmer members he sells 'futures' in the Minneapolis Grain Exchange. This gives us security and insurance". His co-operative favoured continuance of open markets and "Futures" trading. Therefore his directors had unanimously approved of his attendance at the Congressional hearing to express their wish that this satisfactory outlet for their grain be continued in operation.

Remember—his co-operative members received double the price co-operative members got in Canada, where the wheat price is controlled by Government.

Testimony of Mr. Roy Crawford:

Mr. Roy Crawford, General Manager of a large Kansas Co-operative with 250 locals said,

"The 'futures' market of the Grain Exchanges (in our case principally Kansas City and to some extent Chicago) are vital ones in the marketing machinery of the present distributive system which we use in disposing of the farmers' grain".

Mr. Crawford said his members did not favour closing what is sometimes called "The Speculative Market" because, he added,

"The speculator gives to their markets, breadth and liquidity and that the grain 'Futures' market provides buying power by concentrating in one general market place, demand from all sources, including the Millers, the Processors, domestic dealers, exporters—and the individual risk dealers or speculators."

Statement of Mr. John H. Davis:

Speaking in St. Louis recently, John H. Davis, Executive Vice-President of National Council of Co-operatives, said,

"The principle role of government in a long-range agricultural policy should be to assist in research, education and adjustment. We should depend on free enterprise to provide the markets. We can't call it a free market when the government maintains production restrictions and price controls on agricultural products. The government's function of adjustment is maintaining the mechanism of controls and subsidies for us in an emergency such as occurred in 1933. However, we hope to stay as far away as possible from restriction of production and subsidizing of prices."

Space does not permit printing the full testimony. If you wish to have it, mail Coupon below

Despite these testimonies the Canadian "Pools" want to close the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, although between them, they own ten memberships in it. And their members are actively trading in the "Futures" market for coarse grains every day. Does this make sense to you, Mr. Farmer? The simple fact is that the Leaders of the Pools want to close the Exchange to get a vice-like monopoly control.

Farmers are cordially invited to visit the Exchange during trading hours, 9:30 to 1:15 p.m. Ask to see the President or Secretary, or any other member. Ask questions. Straight answers will be given. All our members favour a "floor" price for wheat administered by the Canadian Wheat Board. But they also believe that farmers should have the opportunity to get top world prices NOW, through open markets, while prices are high. The more farmers know about the Exchange, the better it will be for all concerned. Meantime mail the coupon below for booklet explaining the Canadian Wheat Board Act and how you are regulated and controlled by it, in its present form.

THAT'S WHAT WE LIKE ABOUT THE SOUTH—Corn pone and cotton, warm sands and lovely girls. It's nice to think of all that in the midst of winter up north, what with blizzards, icy rains and fuelless days. These attractive southern belles strike up a pattern for beauty as they pose on the warm sands of Cypress Gardens, Fla., for the photographer. ART IMITATOR—Hans van Meegeren, 57, the Dutch artist-who-faked some of the world's art experts by faking old masters, died in an Amsterdam hospital of heart disease. On Nov. 13 last he was sentenced to one year in prison on charges of fraud. The prosecution said he had signed the names of such old masters as Vermeer and Pieter de Hooch to his paintings and sold them for approximately $2,500,000. Buyers included the late Hermann Goerring and the Rotterdam museum.

YESTERYEAR'S WONDER STOPS BEFORE TODAY'S GIANT AIRLINER—Clattering wonder of yesteryear, an early gas-bugle comes to a halt before one of today's transportation wonders—a giant airliner at an air show to be held in Miami. Costumed characters out of the gay 80's are an attractive part of the setting.

WHERE 40 DIED IN TRAIN WRECK—Wrecking crews prepare to remove the smashed passenger coaches of two German trains which crashed at Sahrt-Irlich, near Neuwied. Forty persons were killed and more than 100 injured in the tragedy.

SAVED BY SURGERY—Born without an oesophagus, Susan Eggleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eggleton, Peterboro, Ont., celebrated her first birthday by eating a piece of her birthday cake. Almost a year ago her life was saved by a delicate operation, said to be the first successful one of its kind in Canada. Susanne today apparently enjoys perfect health.

WRESTLER SHARPE BECAME LIFESAVER—Wrestler Mike Sharpe, (left), shown with his father and brother, became a life-saver in Hamilton, fishing spectators from a swimming pool into which they had fallen. At a wrestling match between Sharpe and the Masked Marvel at Hamilton's municipal pool a soldier spectator swung a bayonet at the Marvel and in the resulting excitement spectators crowded and jostled one another on to the catwalks over the pool. The walks collapsed, Sharpe pulled the spectators out of the water as fast as they fell in, no one was injured, but heavy 100 persons were dunked.

FISHERMEN LOSE PROPERTY—A storm with winds that reached gale proportions caused the lighthouse and pier at Bronte, Ont., to fall into the water and be ground to debris. Fishermen rushed to the pier and used ropes and wires in an effort to save their properties. Valuable nets were their big worry. Widening of creek in operations for new pier is said to have caused stronger waves to break on old pier.

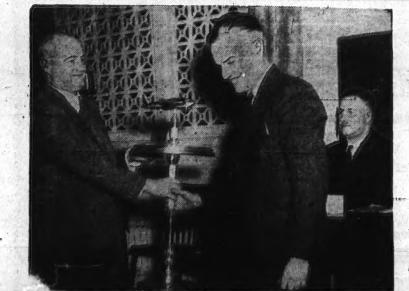

BOTTLE BABY—B. E. Eitrd, of Landis, N.C., is feeding his eight-week-old New Hampshire Red chicken, who grew up in the five-gallon bottle which has been its home since it was one week old. Air vents in the side of the bottle enable the chicken to put her head through to eat. She seems as healthy as any fowl that has the run of the farmyard. Eitrd is co-owner of a feed store which is experimenting with a special feed compound that makes hens lay eggs with red or green yolks. Other colors are hoped for later.

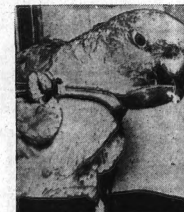

NEW YORK'S STORM—Buried under snow which almost completely covered this car in Central Park, New York, gives an idea of the severity of the recent storm that was the worst in the city's history.

AT LEAST THEY COULD BEAR IT—If New York's record-breaking snowstorm brought temporary grief and woe to Manhattan's millions, it was decidedly to the taste of these polar bears in Brooklyn's Prospect zoo, who are shown disporting themselves as a result.

Gilmore, of Columbia Potato Growers' Association for heaviest yield of commercial potatoes. Mr. Gilmore harvested 24.13 tons per acre, equivalent to 864.3 bushels. The chairman of the meeting, Wm. Macdillivray, director of extension, B.C. department of agriculture, is seated in the background.

KNOWS HER TABLE MANNERS—With table manners befitting a young lady, Sweetie Pie, 20-year-old parrot, owned by Miss Hilda Merkel of Los Angeles, scoops up and eats her food with a spoon. Ignoring the traditional "Folly waits a cracker," Sweetie screams for her spoon when she's hungry. When the spoon is offered, she takes it in her beak, transfers it to a claw, and starts spooning up her victuals. After she is through eating, she puts the spoon neatly in a special cup.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

LATE TRAIN:

By Matthew F. Christopher

SHARON pulled the collar of her coat tighter around her neck against the chilly night air. A moment ago her watch had said one-thirty-seven, and the train, with Dick, should have been here at one-eight. She could return inside to the warmth of the station, she thought, as she had done half a dozen times in the last hour back, but she'd only be back out again, thinking she had heard the whistle.

She hardly heard the man approach. "Aren't you cold?" he said. She turned. She saw he was about 60. His eyes were small, keen, his smiling, wrinkled face reddened from the chill.

"No," she answered, looking calm. "Not quite. Guess I'm more frightened than cold."

"Frightened? Why?"

"He met his eyes evenly. 'It's half hour late.'"

"Hm," he murmured. He turned and gazed up the tracks that vanished into the yawning pit of darkness. "Half hour. Must be my clock's off. He looked back at her. 'It's seldom so late, at that, isn't it?'"

"Yes."

"Ah, but it's no cause for worry. There may be snow on the mountains, preventing the train from travelling very fast."

Sharon followed the old man's glance up the tracks. "I'm not thinking," she confessed, "and I get awfully frightened. Airplanes, trains, subways—I'm allergic to them, I guess. Ever since—"

"She bit her lip."

"Ever since what, my dear?"

"Ever since Father got killed," Sharon whispered, looking away. She paused, felt the quickening of her heart. "It always frightens me, now."

The old man stood tall beside her, his nervousness comforting.

"Sorry," he said. His breath formed a cloud in the air. "I take it you're waiting for our husband?"

She nodded. The old man chuckled. "No wonder you worry. You're young, your husband's young. Wait until you're old, like me. Worry will be a memory, almost forgotten. It will cease to exist for you."

Sharon laughed, but the gentle bitterness of it died quickly on her lips. "You don't worry? That doesn't seem possible."

"You'll learn," the old man said. "There's no need for fear. Fear is thought transference, and what is imparted from the mind can be controlled. I wouldn't worry if I were you. When our number is up, it's up—whether you are waking on a sidewalk, or riding in a train."

"Yes, I suppose you're right."

"After a while the old man asked, 'What time is it, now?'"

Sharon pulled away the top of her glove, glanced at the face of the wrist watch under the pale light. "It's almost two." She looked wearily down the tracks. "Heavens. Do you think something's happened?"

"It's almost an hour late."

"An hour," repeated the old man softly. "Well, yes, it is running late. But it's cold, it might hit a storm, drifts. Weather is terribly unpredictable in the mountains, you know. But let's ask the man inside, shall we?"

The ticket agent gazed regretfully at them, his magnified eyes shifting behind thick glasses from the old man to Sharon. "I'm sorry," he said. "No word. But the train'll be along. Don't worry."

"See?" smiled the man. "Even he" says don't worry."

"I know, but I can't help it," Sharon answered. Her voice was tense. "Every second, every minute, I—I feel more scared. She wondered how he could remain so calm. 'Do I look like I'm scared?'"

His wrinkled face fanned into a grin. "Yes," he said. "But something tells me you don't look pretty scared. And, suppose the train suddenly comes in. What would he say if he saw frozen tears on your cheeks?"

She laughed, and the sound of her laughter carried across the large room, where an electric clock hung high on the wall.

"Two-forty-four," read the old man. "An hour and six minutes late. He smiled at Sharon. 'Let's stay inside. It's too cold out there. Or do you really want to wait outside?'"

She nodded. What a gentle person this stranger was! She would have cried, she knew, if it weren't for him. The telephone whirled. They watched the agent pick up the receiver, heard him answer: "Yeah... yeah... okay... the train's..."

Then the little man spoke to a baldish man at the other window. The baldish man came out through a door, crased a figure on the blackboards. With a white chalk he wrote: 3:10, and in parentheses: Indefinite.

"Mister," Sharon said, stepping abruptly toward him, her heart pounding. "What's happened? Why is the train going to be so late?"

"There was a train crash, sorry to say, Miss," he said, looking away. "The telephone whirled. They watched the agent pick up the receiver, heard him answer: 'Yeah... yeah... okay... the train's...'"

"Thank you," whispered Sharon. "See?" she said, looking away. "What did I say about worry? It's a falsehood! Absolutely a falsehood!"

The train pulled in at 3:04, displacing among its few passengers, a tall, anxious-looking young man, and a grey-haired lady. "Dick!" cried Sharon happily, falling into his long, long arms. "Oh, Dick!"

"Baby!" Dick said, and he kissed her, long and tenderly, holding her as that her toes barely touched the ground.

Finally, he released her, and she stood and looked at him breathlessly. "Thank you, young man," said the lady, as Dick helped the man to his feet. "My husband's had another one of his attacks. He must have been worried about me. He always gets them when he's terribly worried about something. He'll be all right. It never lasts long. Thank you. Thank you so much, young man."

Conservation Of Wild Life Needed In B.C.

VANCOUVER. — In addressing sportsmen at the annual Princeton and District Fish and Game banquet, Commissioner James Cunningham said "Don't let's shoot about money. There's lots of them. We are anxious to conserve other wild game."

The commissioner added further that real progress is being made in wild life conservation in the province.

President G. M. Harman urged intelligent appreciation of the vital need of conservation. During 1947 the Princeton Club built a rearing pond, constructed a dam at Lost Lake, built fireplaces at a number of lakes, and did considerable work cleaning up lake shores.

STUDIES PROBLEM OF JOBS FOR MEN OVER 45

Vigorous Start Has Been Made Towards Its Solution

OTTAWA. — The job problem of Canada's "older worker"—the man more than 45—is not yet solved, but a vigorous start has been made toward its solution, Labor Minister Mitchell said.

The minister said the picture is brighter than it was a year ago, though still clouded by employers' preference for younger workers.

Though the number of unemployed job applicants 45 or over had dropped by October to the lowest point since the Second World War, the percentage of older workers in the unemployed group had reached their highest point in the same period.

At Oct. 30, unemployed applicants registered with the National Employment Service in the "over 45" category numbered 27,466, about 12,000 less than a year previously. This category constituted 35.6 per cent of all unemployed men, against 30 per cent, a year previously.

Jealous Penguins Likely Murdered Straying Bird

NEW YORK. — A penguin that walks into the wrong stall is likely to get into the same sort of trouble as an inebriated gent who gets into the wrong apartment at night.

Brenz 200 officials have been investigating the murder of an adult black-footed penguin, beaten and pecked to death by beak and flipper wings.

Each of the five families in the zoo's penguin enclosure has its own nesting box, and the deceased apparently "became confused and returned to the wrong box," suggested William Bridges, zoo information director.

"And you know," Bridges added, "penguins are very jealous."

New Tax Guide For Prairie Farmers

Revenue Minister McCann Reports Only 28 Per Cent Filled Taxes in 1946

(By J. A. Hume in Ottawa, Citizen)

OTTAWA.—National Revenue Minister Dr. J. J. McCann outlined something of the efforts being made by the income tax division of his department to secure more income tax returns and taxes from Canadian farmers.

Dr. McCann, at a press conference, tabled copies of the division's new "Prairie Farmers Income Tax Guide and Farm Account Book". He stated that similar guides and account books will be available soon for use by all other Canadian farmers.

Of 652,928 Canadian farmers, 156,039, or 23.8 per cent, filed income tax returns for the fiscal year 1945-46, Dr. McCann stated. Of this number 53,000 or 8.2 per cent, filed assessable returns (where income tax had to be paid), while 82,731 filed returns showing they were not subject to tax under the existing scale of income tax exemptions.

Dr. McCann added that the division has checked 27,411 of the returns of 136,039 farmers who filed returns.

Dr. McCann had no figures as to the total income taxes actually paid by Canadian farmers in the year mentioned.

THE WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE IS A MEETING PLACE—

Except that business is done on a larger scale, the Grain Exchange is similar to a town or village market where farmers bring in produce to sell and the public go to buy it.

The Exchange itself neither buys nor sells grain. Nor is it a profit making institution.

Nobody in the Trade is asked to become a member. It is entirely a voluntary association of men engaged in buying, selling, handling, processing, storing, financing, shipping, importing and exporting grain. The Exchange is their common meeting place where business can best be done economically and without loss of time. Every member of the Exchange serves the interests of farmers in one way or another.

While a few men who farm on a large scale are members of the Exchange most farmers, when they wish to buy or sell grain, employ a Commission Agent, Elevator Company, Co-operative or Pool to act as their Agents.

All "Pools" are members of the Exchange and use all of its facilities. They couldn't get along without the Exchange—and they know it.

The Exchange has been in operation for sixty years and is world famous because of the high standards of conduct observed by members.

Farmers are cordially invited to visit the Exchange during trading hours, 9:30 to 1:15 p.m. Ask to see the President or Secretary, or any Member. Ask questions. Straight answers will be given.

Our members favour a floor price for wheat, administered by the Canadian Wheat Board. But they also believe that farmers should have the opportunity to get top world prices NOW, through open markets, while prices are high.

The more farmers know about the Exchange, the better for all concerned. Meantime mail the coupon below for booklet explaining the Canadian Wheat Board Act. It explains how farmers are regimented and controlled by it, in its present form.

Recently there have been several prosecutions before the local Magistrate against individuals for failing to make returns regarding income tax after they have received the registered notice to do so. People save themselves considerable annoyance by promptly making returns after they have received such notice, as in such cases failure to make the returns makes them liable to a fine of Twenty Five Dollars a day for every day of neglect in filing return. Answering Your Questions ABOUT IMPORT CONTROL

MOST of the countries which are Canada's regular customers have not recovered sufficiently from the war to pay, in the normal way, for all the goods they need, despite extensive help from this and other countries. Nor are they able to send us enough of their goods to balance accounts—or to pay us in the kind of money which we, in Canada, can use to buy goods in other countries.

At the same time, Canada has been buying more goods than ever before from the United States and other countries demanding U.S. dollars. This is because these goods were not obtainable elsewhere and because of demand pent-up during the war.

Buying from the United States or U.S. dollar areas must, therefore, be temporarily reduced until our trading again becomes normal.

To meet this emergency, purchase of goods and services or expenditures for travel, which must be paid for with U.S. dollars, are now subject to control.

IF YOU ARE AN IMPORTER OF CONSUMER GOODS and wish to find out what goods are (1) prohibited, (2) subject to quota, or (3) unaffected by controls, see or write your nearest Collector of Customs and Excise.

IF YOU WISH TO IMPORT GOODS SUBJECT TO QUOTA and wish to establish your quota authorization to import, or need special information, consult your nearest Collector of Customs and Excise. Quota application forms (E.C. 1) and instructions for completing them, are available at all Customs Offices. These applications must be filed with the Collector of Customs and Excise.

IF YOU WISH INFORMATION ON THE AMOUNT OF YOUR QUOTA. After your application has been filed with your Collector of Customs and Excise, all correspondence about the establishment of quotas or cases of exceptional hardship through import prohibitions should be directed to Emergency Import Control Division, Department of Finance, 490 Sussex Street, Ottawa. Quotas are issued on a quarterly basis and any unused portion may be carried over into the following quarter.

IF YOU ARE AN IMPORTER OF PRODUCTION PARTS, STRUCTURAL STEEL, stone, machinery or other capital goods or automobiles, and wish to know the import restriction in these classifications, write or see Emergency Import Control Division (Capital Goods), Department of Reconstruction and Supply, 385 Wellington Street, Ottawa.

IF YOU INTEND TO TRAVEL OUTSIDE CANADA and wish to know about foreign exchange available for this purpose, consult any bank or the Foreign Exchange Control Board at Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Windsor, Vancouver. If you wish information about personal purchases of goods made during travel outside Canada, consult the nearest Collector of Customs and Excise before departure.

IF YOU ARE A MANUFACTURER, WHOLESALE OR RETAILER and wish information about excise taxes, or about the list of goods to which they apply, consult the nearest Collector of Customs and Excise.

IF YOU NEED OTHER SOURCES OF IMPORTS consult the Foreign Trade Service, Department of Trade and Commerce (Import Division), Ottawa, regarding your supply problems arising from import quota restrictions. Through the Trade Commissioner Service, the Import Division is endeavouring to arrange increased supplies from the United Kingdom and other "non-scheduled" countries.

IF YOU ARE A HOUSEWIFE and wish information on available alternate foods which have comparable nutritional values to those now prohibited or subject to quota, informational material which has been prepared by the Nutrition Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare may be secured from your Provincial Health Department or local health unit.

The administration of these emergency import controls is the responsibility of various departments of the Government. The above information is given to aid Canadian citizens in complying with the new import control regulations with a minimum of inconvenience in their business and personal affairs.
